Trial of John Walters, Negro, of Staunton Nearing End.

Staunton Nearing Ed.

Staunton, VA. April 9.—The Corporation Court was occupied all of today in the trial of the very interesting case against John Walters, charged with attempted criminal assault. Walters is a colored man, and the charge is made by Mrs. H. M. Panter.

The case has created a great deal of excluence as Mrs. Painter is very con-has been ticket agent here twenty years. At the call trial all speciators were excluded from the room, as was also the case while the was testifying in court this morning. In her testimony the plaintiff absolutely identified the negro. The case went to the jury this evening, but they could not agree after being out some time, and were adjourned over.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
EAST HADFORD, VA., April 9.—The case of the Commonwealth vs. James O'Connor, of the Baldwin Detective
Agency, for the shooting of ex-Mayor Hall September 15th, was called in dict brought in for assault and battery the jury fixing the fine at $5 and costs while in consideration of any civil dam ages Mr. Hail might have agains O Connor, the latter gave Mr. Hail his check for $1,000.

The case was opened by the state many of Commonwealth's Attorney

check for $1,000. $

The case was opened by the statements of Commonwealth's Attorney Jordan for the prosecution and of John Lee, of Lynchburg, for the defense, and was followed by a statement from Mr. Hall on the witness-stand to the effect that he would receive one thousand dollars and acknowledge satisfaction of the injury so far as he was concerned.

Both Sides Agree.

Both Sides Agree.

It was agreed between counsel for both sides that this amount should be accepted, and the matter of the degree of guilt of the defendant was submitted to the jury. In view of the fact that Mr. Hall had refused to testify against O'Connor, and they had no evidence against him, the jury found the verdict as stated above.

The trouble between the Baldwin detective and Mr. Hall grew out of an alleged insult offered a young girl in Mr. Hall's restaurant by O'Connor, which resulted in an attack upon Mr. Hall by O'Connor. The former was shot through the lungs, and barely escaped death from his wounds.

The two men shook hands in a friendly manner, and O'Connor expressed regret at his deed, which he says grew out of a misunderstanding, and was done in the heat of passion.

The lawyers in the case were: Lee of Lynchburg; J. C. Wysor, of Pulaski; Lee Trinkle, of Wytheville and Judge Selden Longley, of Radford, for the defense, and Robert L. Jordan for the prosecution. S. H. Hoge, of Roanoke, who had been employed to assist in the prosecution, had withdrawn from the case, owing to his appointment as assistant district attorney, his duties requiring his presence elsewhere.
